WEST VIRGINIA TAKES PART IN CAPITAL NEWS

Events of Washington, D. C., Are Reported by Telegram's Correspondent There.

WASHINGTON, May 10.—A number of Washingtonians interested in the good roads movement have just returned from the White Sulphur Springs where they attended a large and enthusiastic meeting of the Trans-Allegheny Good Roads Association. They report a very encouraging spirit as to good roads as expressed in the sessions which were attended by West Virginians from all parts of the state, many Virginians and others from nearby states. Washington automobilists are equally interested with the West Virginians in the development of the roads in this section where the roads have been notoriously bad. The Midway trail running from the Ohio through White Sulphur, connects with the James river trail at Allegheny, Va., and each county has raised money for perfecting the roads by bond issue, so that motoring through the beautiful Alleghenies, without the discomfort of bad roads, seems a not unlooked for possibility this season.

As a social event and also from the standpoint of the entries, the Washington Horse Show, which is now in progress, has surpassed all previous efforts along that line, and rivals the Metropolitan show, which was New York's famous event each season. Society is out in force at all the performances, and the boxes have been filled daily with women who are leaders in the ultra-exclusive set of the capital. Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Bell Sweeney, formerly of Wheeling, W. Va., have a box and Monday had as their guests Mr. and Mrs. Alexander Glass, of Wheeling; Mrs. George

REALLY WONDERFUL FOR WHOOPING COUGH

Statistics show that there were 150,000 deaths in the United States in 1915 from whooping cough. Whooping cough is very serious with an adult, and something not to be neglected with the child. If Prima-Cura is taken at the inception, the whooping cough will be quickly allayed and a serious case prevented. If the First Aid (Prima-Cura) is taken at once, an ounce of prevention will be provided. If the case has not progressed too far, Prima-Cura will relieve. It is the most powerful antiseptic yet discovered—and is a positive miracle for whooping cough or any throat affections. There were over a million bottles sold in 1915 in the territory east of the Ohio river. 25c and 50c sizes. Any druggist anywhere.—Advertisement.

Dewey, and Miss Wilson, of New York, who is their guest.

Misses Julia Montgomery and Annie Dent, of Montgomery, W. Va., have come to Washington for a visit of several weeks to Prof. George Winston and family. They will remain for the closing exercises of their alma mater, Madison Hall school, on May 17. Miss Gertrude Cole, niece of Senator George Cole, of West Virginia, is also at Madison Hall for a visit of several weeks. The young ladies were among the guests at the May fete given Monday at Great Falls, when a party of girls representing a dozen different states were hostesses.

Robert Y. Muir has been sent his commission as postmaster of the fourth class office at Haysco, W. Va.

Chester Kraft, formerly of Parkersburg, but at present one of the popular and efficient salesmen in the establishment of Small, the leading florist of the capital, is in New York for two weeks. Mr. Kraft was chosen as one of the men to go to assist in the opening of the new Small establishment on Fifth avenue, which is said to be the most wonderful of its kind the United States. The new Small store sets a precedent for florists in this country. It has a magnificent sunken garden, copied after one of the famous Italian gardens, waiting room and writing rooms for its women patrons, all of which are veritable bowers of bloom.

A claim for a widow's pension has been filed with the pension bureau by Congressman Sutherland in behalf of Mrs. Mary Cora Richmond, of Toledo, O., who prior to taking up her residence in the Ohio city, made her home in Monongalia county.

Hon. Fred Paul Grosseup, of Charleston, is a visitor in the city, having come here from Wheeling, where he took a star part in the big Republican state convention which was held there. Col. Grosseup, who was a candidate for membership on the "Big Four" and whose prospects were of the fairest, sacrificed his ambition for the sake of party harmony and to bring about the selection of a quartet of delegates without a contest. He did it with a speech ringing with patriotic party sentiments. Many politicians doubt whether more honor would have been his had Col. Grosseup been nominated, as he has been praised everywhere by party men for what he did. While in this city, he is still hearing his praises sung by Republicans from the state who are residents here.

Representatives Moss and Cooper voted in favor of the Senate amendment to the army bill, but they were on the losing end of the proposition.

The amendment provided for a standing army of 250,000, a volunteer army as the first reserve, and sought to clip the wings of the "federalization of the national guard" idea contained in the Hay army bill. There was an hebra of Second district voters from Washington on Monday. These men are employees of the government, who maintain a voting residence in that part of West Virginia. The Republican voters were marshaled by Col. Edward C. Guinn, "the boss of Hedgeville," while Col. David W. Gall rounded-up the Democrats.

In consequence of the decrease of drunkenness in Russia, due to the prohibition of the sale of vodka, fires have largely decreased.
